Home Textiles Today Hosts Panel Discussion ‘The New Home Textiles Landscape-What’s Needed to Survive and Thrive Tomorrow’

New York City – Home Textiles Sourcing Expo Summer 2018 takes place alongside Texworld USA and Apparel Sourcing USA and will offer a wide variety of seminars and panels during this edition. As a marketplace for networking, education and sourcing, Home Textiles Sourcing is the only trade event in North America to center entirely on home textiles and finished soft goods for all home applications. This summer, educational events will include areas of focus such as translating fashion to the home, the global home textiles landscape, sustainability, along with home furnishings and color trends.

Featured among the many offerings will be a presentation and panel discussion sponsored by Home Textiles Today entitled 'The New Home Textiles Landscape – What's Needed to Survive and Thrive Tomorrow'.

"Home Textile Sourcing offers panel discussions with topics of interest to importers, product developers, marketers, sourcers and creatives – allowing them to gain more knowledge on the ever-evolving home textiles industry. We are also pleased to welcome a few new exhibitors to the show floor for summer, including Lyndale Textiles Inc. specializing in inherent fire-retardant fabrics widely used in hospitality, Bountiful Goose Bedding, specializing in luxury bedding and more," said Jennifer Bacon, Show Director.
